

Please DO NOT allow cell phone use on commercial aircraft flights. The people are crammed into the planes, with little space. Cell phone users talk louder than normal conversation, especially in a noisy environment, and a flying jet is a noisy environment! Having a significant number of people yelling into their cell phones for hours, and a cacophony of cell phones ringing, with no way to escape, is a recipe for disaster. Why not allow only text messages? Or better yet, find a way to offer wireless internet connections aboard the plane. But not voice conversations, PLEASE.
